TALK OF BUYING CHEMICAL ENGINE

Town Councilmen and Firemen Have a Conference Regarding Purchase of Additional Apparatus for Local Department.

At a conference held by members of the town council and the fire company, and a representative of the American LaFrance Fire Engine Company, on Tuesday evening the question of the purchase of a chemical engine for Gettysburg was discussed at length.

The great amount of damage done by water at the Fire Inn in June, and the difficulty of getting water on the Seminary hill several weeks ago, have brought the necessity of some additional apparatus to the attention of local authorities and some steps are to be taken in the very near future.

Fire Chief Weaver stated at Tuesday evening's conference that he felt something should be secured quickly. A committee was appointed some months ago to look into the matter of securing an automobile fire engine, but it is a big proposition and will require considerable time to get to market. As a result Mr. Wierman thought some immediate steps should be taken to give the town better protection. Members of Council agreed with him.

The representative of the dealer stated that Gettysburg's needs would not be met, he thought, by the purchase of a two wheel, double tank, 35 gallon machine, to be drawn by hand and to cost about $600. He stated that such a machine could be gotten quickly to fires and prevent small fires from becoming larger ones while, in cases where the blaze had already reached large proportions, it would be used to prevent a spread to other structures.

The fire at the home of W. L. Gilbert, near Spring Grove, several weeks ago was cited. Here the large barn burned to ashes in spite of terrific heat, every other building was saved. The new chemical tank was extinguished while the other was in action, a total of seventy charges being made during the progress of the fire. Spring Grove has the type of chemical recommended as it has been used for a number of years, recently having had a second tank built for it.

In further argument for a chemical apparatus it was stated that in York serenty five per cent of the fires are extinguished with chemicals and that in the past five years not one steamer has done three hours' work a year. The chemicals may be used indoors without fear of damaging furniture or carpets, as the residue may be swept up like and after the liquid has dried.

Councilmen regarded the entire proposition in a favorable light and it is probable that definite action will be taken in the very near future.

Tuesday evening was the regular night for the September meeting of council but there was no quorum present and no business was transacted.

THOMPSON QUITS

Confirms Report that He Resigned As Coach.

Michael J. Thompson has severed his connection with the Mount St. Mary's College as coach. He is now in New York City keeping business engagements relative to the coming football season.

There are several reasons assigned by Thompson for resigning at the head of the institution. His effort in securing every line of sport at the Emmitsburg college produced great results, and he was instrumental in staging the first set-to and field games ever held there. Yet he felt that he was being hindered in his work because the faculty would not agree to allow the athletes to remain over night in a town where men would have to compete the next day.

He stated: "I found a fine bunch of athletic talent at the college when I went there, and the first set of games held proved successful. Yet, when I wanted to bring the athletes to Baltimore and Washington meets I was told to go ahead if it were possible to have the men go without remaining out of the college at night. This, of course, was an impossible feat, and I became discouraged. In other branches of sport I was heartily supported."

Evie Deardorff, of West Middle street, has gone to Carlisle where he will attend the Carlisle Business College.

Misses Marie Eckenrode and Helen Shipper, both of York, have returned to their homes after spending several days in Hagerstown and Gettysburg.

Keller E. Rockey, a graduate of Gettysburg College, has passed successfully the examinations for the Marine service and receives a commission as second lieutenant.

ENDS SEARCH OF HALF A CENTURY

Medal Found on Gettysburg Field Returned to Descendant of Owner after Fifty Years. Many Previous Efforts Fruitless.

Fifty years after he found a medal on the battlefield at Gettysburg, T. B. Bayly, of Baltimore, has just returned the gold piece to the survivors of the owner. An unusual meeting was held Wednesday by Mr. Bayly.

After the battle many people visited the field to hunt for relics of the engagement and to gaze upon the dead and wounded of artillery strewn about the field. A sister of Mr. Bayly chanced upon a coin bearing the name of John R. Burly and an inscription declaring that it had been presented to him by the State of New Hampshire for bravery. Another fine indented him, but on one seems to recall Burly. At every Grand Army reunion Mr. Bayly would go among the delegations in search of the owner of the medal. He thought he surely would be successful in the end, and with the profession of veterans at Gettysburg in 1913.

He failed again to get trace of the owner and then decided to pass the medal on to one who, in some way, had the great battle.

While walking on the streets of Baltimore during the recent convention of the Grand Eagles, Mr. Bayly saw two delegates to the convention on the corner. Both were bands on their breasts proclaiming the fact that they were from New Hampshire. The sister of one of them chanced to be informed that they were from the town of Burly. That name was engraved on the medal.

Mr. Bayly asked both if they had ever heard of Burly, they replied in the negative, but agreed to find the information. They spent several days they went home. They were successful and upon Mr. Bayly got a letter telling him that Burly had died some years ago, but that he had immediate relatives living. They were informed when Mr. Bayly returned the medal, that the owner deserved a better fate if expressions of thanks for his diligent and successful search.

ARREST UNDER CIGARETTE LAW

First Arrest in Adams County Made when Two Youths are Caught Refuse to Tell and Both Pay Fines. Some Trouble here.

The first arrest in Adams County under the new anti-cigarette law was made in Huntington township when Clifton Clapper and Lloyd Whistler, both minors, were arrested for smoking cigarettes and having cigarettes in their possession. Constable D. J. Starry, of York Springs, made the arrests.

The boys were taken before Justice of the Peace C. L. Myers, of York Springs, and a hearing was granted. Attorney J. E. Martin, for a general interchange of views. Each reported that he had not $3.65 each, which they paid rather than involve the guilty person.

The arrests have been made in Gettysburg under the new law and tobacco dealers are said to be more careful than usual not to violate the provisions of the youth's anti-law.

It is believed, however, a new way will be found by which the boys can get cigarettes was approached by a citizen of York, when asked where he secured the "smokes" told where he had bought them for the farmers in general. The matter to the attention of the proper authorities and no legal action followed.

MANY FARMERS WANT ADVICE

State Counsellors, well Known here, Report that they Have Large Numbers of Requests for Information from Farmers.

Soils, drainage and co-operation are three topics in which the farmers of the State are showing a marked interest, according to the State farm advisers who have held several conferences lately at the Capital Tuesday. Prof. Thomas F. Hunt, of York, and I. W. Lighty, of East Berlin, are on the corps.

The counsellors, who have been in the field just one month, were summoned to the capital by Director A. L. Martin, for a general interchange of views. Each reported that he had not $3.65 each, which they paid rather than involve the guilty person.

The arrests have been made in Gettysburg under the new law and tobacco dealers are said to be more careful than usual not to violate the provisions of the youth's anti-law.

Diamonds of the weight of twenty-eight and two-fifths tons, which would fill a space of ten and one-half cubic yards and have a value of nearly $1,-500,000,000, have been taken from the earth since the earliest time to the present day, according to the estimate just made by the geology, the well known metallurgist, writes the Paris correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger.

Many Parisians, however, only once care the stones before cutting which are brought by trade, although they do not multiplies their value by five. A fine diamond, six with and the light ones would then hold the total weight of all those put together in the finished condition and would have a market value of $1,760,000,000, according to the present prices.

Of this quantity, according to Mr. Lacroix, 740,000 carats are of the value of $85,000,000 have been cut and 1,020,000 carats are of small diamonds from inclined tinges or the black variety, and 280,000 carats of the value of $100,000,000 by the Kimberley mines. Thirty fields are now, however, practically exhausted, and the remaining 1,020,-142,000,000 carats of the value of $300,-000,000 must come from South African mines, which is now almost the sole source of the world's supply.

Apart from South Africa, Mr. De Launay says, the only other diamond fields which count at all are those of Brazil, which have yielded 800,000 carats, according to the last figures, in 1,200 years.

Father of All Hot Springs.

The Spreads is the most ancient of all Cumberland formations, the father of all hot springs, and still pours forth in unmeasured vigor the greatest flood of all. It rises like a geyser to its basin, a steaming, sparkling mirror an acre and a half thick and from six to thirty feet deep. Around it are terraced precipices, the spring-girls, dressed in white, and the boatmen. Above all is the drinking cups at the end of poles and the sanitarium as it comes forth from the earth's bowels. The people gists call Curtindy's fountain virgin or mineral water. They have their sources in no rainfall stakins to 40 thousand measurements, created by those glowing lance lamentaries at the market stands, the water has leaps to light and air for the first time. People sometimes seem to air in not at the thought; it becomes easy to believe that the springs bring from ancestors where it has lurked hidden since creation, some magic, unspoiled, primeval energy, and that the cheerful sparkling Germain peasant girls who sell us drinkwell are captive woodland nymphs and fountain spirits. Nothing is clearer than the gods.—Harper's Magazine.

COLLEGE OPENS FOR 81ST YEAR

Largest Enrollment in the History of Gettysburg College Marks Opening Day of School. President Granville's Address.

With the largest enrollment in the history of the institution Gettysburg College opened Wednesday for the academic year. The Freshman class numbers one hundred and forty-seven additions to the other classes place the enrollment at a figure exceeding by a dozen or more the previous year's.

The exercises were held in Brua Chapel at 9 o'clock and immediately after the usual devotional exercises and the singing of the college hymn, President Granville made the opening address, emphasizing the importance of a college education and the responsibility placed upon those who are afforded the opportunity of securing it. He said in part:

"Looking at the board of trustees and the faculty of Pe nsylvania College is my pride, for it is my joy and pleasure, to extend to you all a hearty welcome and greeting at this, the opening of our eighty first academic year.

"The opening of each session is, and should be, most joyous. It is to the collegian a season of what the first bures of spring is to the calendar year. It is the awakening to the activity of the morning months and we all take joy in it.

"To be satisfied with what we are and with what we are doing, to rest on the laurels already won and to wish for any man and especially for the student. It is your duty as a collegian to bravely and with the hidden treasures of intellectual power and knowledge, which your opportunities here filled with enthusiasm and ambition and I am sure you will in time. Two of the greatest dangers of college life are to be satisfied with the thusiasm may cool and that his ambition may wane. Let me impress upon you, with all the force at my command, that you adhere to the high ideals with which you come to this college.

"In enrolling as college students you have taken one of the most important steps in your career. In this country we may not have any hereditary honors a college education. Step for a moment and consider the obligation that you are one of the fortunate few. In the census of 1910 there were 92,000 in favor of the college trained man. You are to be numbered as one of a chosen body of picked men. There is an enormous responsibility placed upon you and you are going to be more and more responsible for the welfare of your time here.

"You will be judged at this college by a body of men who realize just what it means to be a man in the fullest sense. You will be helped here by men with well stored minds. You will sit at the feet of intellectual giants and be voted years to study, who know how to sift the wheat from the chaff and to give you the very best. You will come in contact with men who have seen men in their enthusiasm and in the midst of competition. You will become acquainted with all the varied interests of present day knowledge—science, history, art, literature and kindred studies. See that you make the most of your opportunities.

"It should ever be the aim of the college to develop all the powers of a man in body, mind and soul. We seek to develop his body, should teach him to think clearly and rightly, and to act truly. The college should awaken the man to the high responsibilities and duties of life. Education is more than more knowledge and the power to apply it.

President Granville made an earnest plea for clean living and activities along all profitable lines, and announcements for the annual week of the year followed the close of this formal address.

TAKEN HOME

WILL ASK COUNTY WOMEN FOR FACTS

Want to Find what are the Conditions that Make Life Unpleasant for the Farmer's Wife Will Send out Many Letters.

Twenty Adams county women will, within the next week or ten days, receive letters from David F. Hudson, Secretary of Agriculture, requesting them to give him information as to how the Department of Agriculture can best serve the needs of the farm women. With each letter will be supplied a return envelope in which the women are to send their suggestions.

This inquiry results from the reading of a letter addressed to the Secretary in which the writer said: "The farm woman has been the most neglected factor in the rural problem and she has been especially neglected by the various Department of Agriculture."

In answering the receipt of this letter, the Secretary determined that the best source of information as to how to give these women the fullest possible aid and service with their important place in agricultural production warrants, was to write to the women themselves and ask them to make their own suggestions.

In the letters which women are requested to give individual answers to the letter or to discuss the matter in their church societies or women's organizations and submit answers representing the composite opinion of the society or their entire communities. The answers are requested to be made not later than 15th and this date is set because it will give the farmers' wives time in which to consider the matter and discuss it with their women neighbors.

The twenty women chosen twenty leading farms in each of the twenty-eight industrial districts in the United States. Their answers, it is expected, will represent the views of a total number of upwards of 560 women farmers. These answers will be carefully considered by the Secretary and his department having to do with the farmers' interests and will be published.

GREAT TRIP TO THE APPLE BELT

State Fruit Growers Delighted with Tour of Adams County's Great Apple Region. Many Orchards Visited on Auto Run.

The second day's program of the summer meeting of the Pennsylvania State Horticultural Society consisted of a forty mile automobile run through the orchards of the apple belt of Adams County with stops at some of the orchards.

Thirty machines carrying one hundred and forty one passengers left Gettysburg at the square at 1 p. m. with J. W. Prickett in the pilot car. The route was the Mummasburg road to H. M. Keller's orchard where a short stop was made viewing his old trees. Special interest centered in his tree of winter banana apples.

From there the route lay via the orchards of David Minter Estate, George Bream and Wm. Hollinger to Cashtown where a stop was made to see H. L. Patterson's fine crop of peaches. After a half hour spent here the tour continued via Hillmen post orchards of Shealy Brothers, Herbert Brothers and Lewis Knee down into Arendtsville showing the fine young orchards of Jacob Taylor, James Hoffman and Harry Bream on the way to that place. Continuing through Arendtsville down the mountain road to Biglerville, the party stopped at the farm of Wm. Eckert, Charles E. Baffensperger and Thomas Orner.

Special attention was called to the Shealy Brothers, Eberhart Brothers and longing to Mr. Baffensperger and his complete and excellent system of spraying. Turning to the left through the Newville road the machines passed the orchards of Wm. Hollinger, Clarence Hoffman, Samuel Bream and W. H. Bream reaching the last orchard on the orchard of Eli Garrettson. After a thorough examination of his beautiful orchard of York Imperials the party moved on to the orchard of C. S. Gitell's Sons, passing the Gettysburg Country on route. Mr. Gross's orchard was gone over by those interested in the forecast on the excellence and perfection of the apples which filled to profusion all of the old trees.

The next stop was at the orchard of J. W. Prickett and an inspection of his packing house located in the centre of the orchard. A short look about a big bear well spent. Mr. Prickett was kept busy answering the many questions about the bears, their habits and how he fed them.

The last stop en route was made at the orchards of Tyson Brothers. Here the cars and autos rolled over through the orchards to the experimental plot of 160 trees which has been conducted for the last seven years under the direction of Pennsylvania State College. The experiment is to determine the best fertilizing material to be used on the different soils. Dr. J. F. Stewart the professor in charge of the experiment, gave a short talk explaining the experiment and showing the results which prove that to get the greatest size and color the most needed element of plant food is nitrogen. Where this is used the greater increase is yield than any other food. Mr. Tyson told the visitors that the trees were planted about a year ago and that the experiment will last for at least five years more.

At the conclusion of the visit to the orchards of Tyson Brothers the party returned to the packing house where a basket dinner" sent all scurrying for their cars and a hungry army of fruit growers rolled up to the Adams County Orchard Exchange and in Bender's grills at 2:15 completing one of the greatest trips ever taken through the county.

How was the dinner? Ask any of the hundred and fifty who ate in the Chicken patties, vegetables, fresh apple sauce, peaches and cream. Well it was great.

This ended the Summer meeting of the State Horticultural Society, the best ever held, and the visitors to our county went away boosting for Adams County where they grow the finest York Imperial apples in the world and where the farmers are on the job and "up to the minute" on orchard treatment.

BOSSERMAN DIES IN THE ASYLUM

John Bosserman, of East Berlin, inmate of the insane asylum at Harrisburg since August 20, 1908—three days after he inflicted fatal wounds on Cornelius Baker—died in the Harrisburg institution on Wednesday.

Mr Bosserman, who was known as a big man of enormous strength, was employed as a farmer at the time he committed the deed. He was tried and found guilty of murder in the second degree, but was declared insane at the time of the trial and was committed to the asylum instead of the penitentiary. He was taken to the institution by Sheriff George A. Fuller Company, of Harrisburg, and Deputy Sheriff Ellis Bair, of Hanover.

TROUBLE ABOUT NEW MEMORIAL

Plan which Defeated Lincoln Way Project Likely to Get into Trouble because Silo Show that Cost will be too High.

On account of the diversified and intricate elements of 17 bids submitted to the Lincoln Memorial Commission, for the construction of the $2,000,000 memorial to be erected at the entrance on the banks of the Potomac River, the Commission has deferred action for upon all the proposals until September 25. This plan caused the defeat of the project for a Lincoln highway, from Washington to Gettysburg.

The lowest bidder for the superstructure, exclusive of the statue of Lincoln and the decorative work, was John Gill & Co., of Cleveland, at $1,216,000, and the highest, Morow Brothers, of Baltimore, at $442,000. Between these extremes the highest and lowest comprised a great diversity of estimates.

The commissioners made no secret of the fact that they considered all the bids high. It was expected that not any of the proposals were accepted it would be necessary to modify the memorial within the $2,000,000 authorized by Congress.

GIVEN HEARING

Charles Ross, colored, of Baltimore, was given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Samuel Bucher in Biglerville, charged with carrying concealed weapons and an attempt to cut. In default of $500 bail he was held for Quarter Sessions court. Ross is one of the colored excursionists who were in town Monday and it is charged that he pulled a razor out of his pocket and after opening it put it in his mouth preparatory to cutting his throat. Before he could be put into immediate service, however, he was arrested by Officers Wilson and Shealer on Carlisle street, and before the razor could be taken from him he threw it away. It was found later where it was picked up by a woman who came to town on the excursion.

REAL ESTATE SALES

March and Baker Farms Sold. John Wagner Buys Farmer.

Charles Ross, colored, of Baltimore, was given a hearing before Justice of the Peace Samuel Bucher in Biglerville, charged with carrying concealed weapons and an attempt to cut. In default of $500 bail he was held for Quarter Sessions court. Ross is one of the colored excursionists who were in town Monday and it is charged that he pulled a razor out of his pocket and after opening it put it in his mouth preparatory to cutting his throat. Before he could be put into immediate service, however, he was arrested by Officers Wilson and Shealer on Carlisle street, and before the razor could be taken from him he threw it away. It was found later where it was picked up by a woman who came to town on the excursion.

In the line were seen Postmaster Dan Culp, Harry Bushman, W. H. Johns, David J. Forney, Dr. E. H. Markley, W. H. Tipton, Howard Harvey, A. L. Butt, Wm. Arch McClean, Maurice Bender, W. F. Gilliand, W. C. Tyson, J. W. Prickett, C. A. Grist, G. W. Kesler, Emory Lawver, Dr. Dill, S. Gray Bigham, George Koons, A. J. Weidner, Eli Garrettson, W. L. Mumbach and Curtis Peters with their machines and when that bunch starts boosting Adams County they raise an enthusiasm that means a big crop and they do that year after year after year.

Lewis Linebaugh, the seventeen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Linebaugh, disappeared from his home on Fountain Dale last Sunday night and his parents have not found a single clue to his whereabouts. If any one can give any information as to his way it will be greatly appreciated.

EXPECT BUSY FALL SEASON

Indications point to a busy autumn in Gehringtown. Secretary Weaver in Gehringtown with the railroad bustings already made, the usual autumn crowds may be expected.

Sunday, September 14, the Pennsylvania Railroad will bring in several trains from Johnstown and vicinity, the excursion being limited to 1500. The Pennsylvania has decided to run its excursions from Harrisburg here over the lines instead of taking them around by way of Hanover and then coming from there over the Western Maryland. Sunday, September 14, excursions are booked from Reinerton, with the expected number placed at 500.

On Saturday, September 27, the Swedeford party of Philadelphia will make its annual visit to Gehringburg. During the fall months there will be the customary number of small parties and personally conducted tours from the New England States, New York and Philadelphia, the locality of which have not been closed with the railroads.

Sunday, October 5, the Central Railroad of New York will send a big excursion here, starting from Rockaway Beach.

Topton Day, always one of the biggest events of the fall, has not yet been announced but the custom is to choose the Saturday nearest October 19 and this would place the event for this year on October 18 when it can reasonably be supposed the people from the Berks County region will be here by the trolleyloads.

The annual colored excursion from Baltimore will be here this coming Monday, September 8. Railroad figures place the probable number at from 2500 to 3000. The excursion is run by the combined G. A. R. posts of that Baltimore and will likely be attended by the usual crowds which have marked the event in years past.

END OF SEASON

St. James Takes Second Place in Sunday School League.

Friday evening marked the close of this year's Sunday School League when St. James and Presbyterian nines battled for second place honors, the latter winning by the score of 9 to 8. It was one of the best games of the season.

St. James' victory gives them second place in the league and the prize to which Sunday School base ball has flourished in Gettysburg. In 1910 the premium was won by the Catholics while St. James scored. The Catholics led by one full game and the schedule called for another game with St. James. The managers failed to get together on a date and the game was never played.

There was no Sunday School base ball in 1911, and in 1912 the Reformed nads won the pennant with the Catholics and St. James tie for second place. The Catholic nine defeated St. James in a nine inning game and secured second place honors. The Catholics' victory this year gives them two treats.

Friday evening's game was featured by the pitching of Howard Hartzell, the last member of the Hartzell family to occupy the pitcher's box. He held the heavy Presbyterian hitters safe and bids fair to be a big factor in next year's series. Allison made a one hundred run and which was a good as anything the League produced during the season. Brown was largely responsible for St. James' score, while the Presbyterians, weakened by the loss of Ira Plank, were never dangerous.

LARGE NUMBER AT OPENING

Parochial Schools Opened for Winter's Work. Mass Celebrated and Address by Father Boyle. Expect to Add New Courses.

The parochial schools opened Monday morning in all grades with an increased attendance and several part-grade and academic students who received their diplomas in June last year and are now in the up advanced studies.

The total enrollment of 139 is divided as follows: High School, Sister Adele teacher, 18; Fifth and Sixth Grades, Sister Mary teacher, 26; Third and Fourth Grades, Sister De Sales teacher, 30; Primary, Sister Bernard teacher, 41. Sister De Sales takes the place of Sister John who was removed to Altmyo, New York. The other three teachers have been with the schools for some years.

Father Boyle celebrated mass for all the children in St. Francis Xavier church on Monday and after the service addressed the pupils on the value of education and the necessity of conscientious study. He also urged them to get the best out of the study of the coming months. Upon the conclusion of this address all repaired to the high school building adjoining and the work of the schools was at once taken up.

During this school year it is the intention to establish a commercial course in the Catholic High School, including stenography with typewriting and book-keeping. The commercial section, fitting the scholars to take up business pursuits upon graduation is the hope of those managing the schools and the class of pupils are even now attending will get a feature of school work not hitherto afforded in St. Francis Xavier's parish.

SMART LINEN FROCKS

INDISPENSABLE PART OF THE SUMMER EQUIPMENT.

The sensible season is at hand, and outfits for the beach resorts are being carefully planned and purchased or already and waiting for use. When one needs depends, of course, upon the character of the resort chosen. A fashionable hotel means one thing, a cottage life at a popular resort means another, and a quiet home life is still another proposition. But the ou dinary seashore equipment means at least provision for morning dress on the beach or verandas, a bathing suit, afternoon frocks for casino visits, bridge, etc.; evening frocks for dinner and dancing and attire for whatever sports one is to participate in.

For either a shore resort or yachting white serge is indispensable, and two or three frocks of light-weight serge in white, and white striped or black, will be found exceedingly useful if one can afford to have them. The expense need not be great, either for delightful things of that sort are to be had ready made at very reasonable prices, and so little material is needed for one of the chic, but simple, models that it could be made by the home dressmaker, the cost will be slight, indeed.

As a general thing, one will get better lines in the tailor-made, even when made from those in the home-made frock, though the quality of the materials may be had in the same fashionable. But if one is willing to pay a slight advance for the tailor-made frock or the white serge suit may be satisfactorily obtained in the home.

The white serge suit or frock may be made in the simplest manner possible or in dressier semi-tailored fashion, the latter being the more desirable in the shape of collar or sleeve trifle. A chic little frock may be made from serge and by had no trimming and depended entirely upon the cut and fit for its beauty cost was fastened at the front with a single button above the waist line. The front slanted at a sharp angle toward the left side, the edge being narrow revers and turnback cuffs of the material. The skirt was gored, fastened at the lapped-over part at the left side with a single button.

A supply of big one-piece frocks of this description should be had, included in every seashore outfit, and several frocks of this sort are always in day low prices, if one buys them then and early in the season. They make up as even smaller expense by the use of simple accessories, the aid of a good pattern.

There are many charming little evening frocks of marquisette. In evening dress this material shows a silver or hand-embroidered or lace trimmed, with excellent substitutes for flouncings, frocks of linens and batists and do little to soil easily.

Chamoisee, crepes and similar silk materials are much employed for afternoon frocks for seashore wear, and foulards are the most serviceable of all. The white frocks in these fabrics are exceedingly popular, particularly the one-piece foulard, which is suitable for the most informal afternoon wear, simple enough for a hotel or casino dinner or evening toilette.

MARY DEAN.

The Philosophy of Selfishness

By KATHLEEN J. MCURDY

When Johnny Perkins was a boy in his native town of Pinesboro he was everybody's pet. When he walked on his way to school and a chestnut he passed in each check. Like fate cheap he carefully avoided refusing to the request or a ride of one or an injury to the feelings of any one. He was considered plain chicken hearted.

When Johnny grew to manhood, while he was still much beloved, his pals in the community was not as high as it had been when he was a child. Kind and women occupy a different place from fellow citizens of mankind. The latter persons are usually, but not always, selfish.

Edward Jones, a rich man of the town, died and left his fortune to found an institution to be called the Jones Haven, in memory of his mother. A monument to Mr. Jones and was proposed by the last person. The people had no use for it, but if they had their opinions would not have been worth much that policy drew. One day John Perkins was standing on the sidewalk near the architecture of the building, he leaned against a post and hitched his arms. He gave the keeper a shock, all the money he had in his pocket at the time. He looked from the building to the post, the former used from the keeper back to the monument.

"Where I've got a fortune," he said to himself, "I won't leave it in the ruin. I'll leave it to the poor. No, I won't, either. I'm not going to leave anything. I'll enjoy it myself—enjoy it by giving it away while I live."

John had no idea whatever when he was going to die, but he had the philosophy of true selfishness. He thought that one of these days he would die and he would not be there to enjoy it. So he decided to enjoy it himself by spending it.

When John got down to the town he met the doctor who had attended Perkins was his father's former partner, who had practiced here fifteen years before. John had been named for him.

John went to Alaska, where he remained for several years. Then he returned to was drawing an income of $25,000 a year from property left to him by his uncle. He converted this property into money and with his entire town and became to enjoy life in the best way.

It was not long before he had acquaintances in every city in the U. S. Nothing sunny, except under promise of a visit from John, and he was a welcome visitor. He lived with the best in the world and entertained with a rich man of his own class ever met. He was a prince among men. His expenses were not limited; but, as he had no family, he was able to settle up his affairs before he died. He was not quite so good as he was guilted, for he left a number of debts, but he left them by saying that he was sorry for them. He died in Paris, where he had entertained several months.

John gave away all of his income except $25,000 a year, the amount which was all he and his mother needed to live on. He had no children, and so died he didn't spend as much, and when he died he left a million dollars. How could it be otherwise than that he should be selfish? He benefited to tell of what he had done and the more he gave away the more he had left to give away.

SENATE PASSES THE TARIFF BILL

Measure Goes Through Both by Vote of 44 to 37.

NOW GOES TO CONFERENCE

All the Features for Which President Wilson Has Contended Are Carried by the Bill—Democrats Vote Solid, Free Sugar and Free Meats.

Washington, Sept. 9.—The Underwood-Simmons tariff bill passed the senate by a vote of 44 to 37.

It went through carrying all the features for which President Wilson has contended—free wool, free sugar, free meats and materially reduced rates on all of the necessaries of life. The result was a great personal victory for Woodrow Wilson, and he was showered with congratulations by telegram and telephone.

The bill now goes to conference between the two houses, and but little change is expected will see final action on this important measure before the senate has dragged back along for six months.

The vote in the senate was by strict political possibilities.

Vice President, Ja. Sullivan, of Wisconsin, and Senator Lea, of Tennessee, voted for the Democratic bill. Only two Democrats, Senators Bacon and Randell, of Louisiana, failed to stand by the caucus action. They voted with most of the Republicans against the measure.

Many Republicans contended that by the action of the senate they had removed themself from the Republican party and had notified any chance he may have had for nomination for the presidency. Nothing was certain until La Follette's plans were. Some Republicans believed that the Wisconsin man is preparing to lead an independent fight in 1916, while others were confident that he was getting ready to jump into the Democratic party. His action was still further emphasized by an address which he made in the senate Senator Cummins, one of the Republican progressives, who for years have been considered a leader, declared that he would support the bill.

Senator Lodge, Republican leader, declared that the bill was "the worst piece of legislation ever passed by the senate of the United States." Senator Penrose, Republican, declared that the bill was "a piece of class legislation."

Senator Underwood, who framed the bill, said that it was "a measure for the people, and not for the interests."

Senator Simmons, Democrat, declared that the bill was "a measure for the people, and not for the interests."

Senator Williams, Democrat, declared that the bill was "a measure for the people, and not for the interests."

Senator Johnson, Republican, declared that the bill was "a measure for the people, and not for the interests."

Senator Borah, Republican, declared that the bill was "a measure for the people, and not for the interests."

Senator Clapp, Republican, declared that the bill was "a measure for the people, and not for the interests."

Senator Brady, Republican, declared that the bill was "a measure for the people, and not for the interests."

Senator Gronna, Republican, declared that the bill was "a measure for the people, and not for the interests."

Senator Norris, Republican, declared that the bill was "a measure for the people, and not for the interests."

Senator Poindexter, Republican, declared that the bill was "a measure for the people, and not for the interests."

Senator Sutherland, Republican, declared that the bill was "a measure for the people, and not for the interests."

Senator Thomas, Democrat, declared that the bill was "a measure for the people, and not for the interests."

Senator Vardaman, Democrat, declared that the bill was "a measure for the people, and not for the interests."

Senator Walsh, Democrat, declared that the bill was "a measure for the people, and not for the interests."

Senator Weeks, Republican, declared that the bill was "a measure for the people, and not for the interests."

Senator Wilson, Republican, declared that the bill was "a measure for the people, and not for the interests."

Senator Works, Republican, declared that the bill was "a measure for the people, and not for the interests."

Senator Young, Republican, declared that the bill was "a measure for the people, and not for the interests."

Senator Zeller, Democrat, declared that the bill was "a measure for the people, and not for the interests."

Senator Zimmerman, Democrat, declared that the bill was "a measure for the people, and not for the interests."

Senator Zinn, Democrat, declared that the bill was "a measure for the people, and not for the interests."

Senator Zuber, Democrat, declared that the bill was "a measure for the people, and not for the interests."

Senator Zumwalt, Democrat, declared that the bill was "a measure for the people, and not for the interests."

Senator Zwick, Democrat, declared that the bill was "a measure for the people, and not for the interests."

The reason for the action to be daily in the receipt of the appellation of extradition from the governor's office at Albany.

There was not in court, but was pended down Main street to the office of his lawyer, Thomas D. Johnson. He was guarded by deputy sheriffs. The streets were crowded with people, but there was no disorder.

Judge Lefler, of Jersey Shore, presided. Mr. Johnson, in a brief statement, said that the extradition proceedings would be pushed with the utmost dispatch. "We will try to have the extradition papers in by noon. "We shall not allow quibbling by technicalities to prevent Sulzer from going back to the insane asylum where he belongs."

In fact Mr. Jerome indicated strongly that he had no confidence in the sanity of Samuel Perkins, of New Hampshire, and Alexander Conrad, of Utah. Mr. Perkins, of New Hampshire, that there would be no difficulty in proving that he was a hearing in the extradition proceedings.

Both Messrs. Jerome and Kennedy were confident that they would get Thaw's arrest in the Dominion, and proved by Sheriff Hartman's experience he has been made a special to bring Thaw back to Pittsburg. This is nothing opportunity to get his hands on Thaw and he will go direct for the New York line.

Mrs. Jerome, former district attorney of New York, who is in Colebrook as a special attorney general of the state of New York, said that the extradition proceedings would be rushed with the utmost dispatch. "We will try to have the papers in by noon," he said

DEBAUCH ENDS EXCURSION DAY

Over Seven Thousand Negroes here, Many of them Held over until Morning. Woman Shot, Man Robbed and Other Sensations.

One woman shot as the result of a drunken brawl, three persons injured by a trolley accident caused by an intoxicated passenger, an officer assaulted by a mob of fifty negroes, a citizen robbed of $65, numerous fights and a score of general disbaucb ended an $1.00 Tuesday excursion to the Weldon Maryland started on their homeward way the last of the 7540 colored excursionists which the road dumped into Gettysburg on Monday.

It is doubtful if any excursion ever run to the town has brought forth the wide-spread and openly expressed indigestion which was aroused in Gettysburg Monday evening when the throng of negroes, hundreds of them partially or entirely under the influence of liquor, thronged the town and created a condition which disgusted every citizen who was unfortunate enough to see it.

It was not until after three o'clock Monday afternoon that the Western Maryland got in the last of its eight hundreds of people and at seven o'clock in the evening, with hundreds of the people still here, it was announced that all the trains had left and there would be no further way of getting to Baltimore until the specials could be run back to make a second trip. All night long many of the people had to wait and, as the evening turned into a cool and comfortable one, fires were built along the track out of newspapers, trash and anything else the unfortunate negroes could gather. Huddled by the side of these blazes many made themselves as comfortable as possible. About half past five next morning the last special pulled out and the sorry affair had come to an end.

That the Western Maryland could bring the excursionists here and not be able to get them back is explained by the fact that at Baltimore in the morning a part of the 7000 negroes appeared to buy tickets for Gettysburg. Even though had half a dozen crowd cars from the Reading they did not have sufficient to get all here and about 1500 were left behind. The majority managed to pack themselves into the cars, as many as 125 packing into a coach. They arrived here after a most uncomfortable ride and, when time came to leave, refused to get it again in the same fashion.

Woman Shot in Fight

The most serious affair of the entire day and night was the shooting of Clara Brown, unmarried, a Baltimore negress who was seriously injured in a fight in the basement of the Hotel Gettysburg. Several rooms had been rented out for the excursionists, the first with improvised tables and the second as a bar.

About six o'clock in the evening many men and women were seated at the tables when the crowd in the bar started jostling each other about and finally got into a free-for-all fight in which beer bottles and glasses were thrown about and wild confusion resulted. The bartenders retreated and in the midst of the melee pulled a pistol, a revolver, stepping from the bar into the other room, and shooting directly at the Brown woman.

The shot entered over the right kidney and went through her body, it probe showing it to have lodged above the left breast. It was known whether or the aim was deliberate and intentional or whether the man, as yet not caught, knew her and shot directly at her. It is said that they had engaged in a quarrel earlier in the day on Carlisle street.

The assailant, a slender light brown man, fled and other negroes carried the bleeding woman up Baltimore street to the jail, crowds of people following and the affair generally creating excitement. Dr. Dalbey, the jail physician, was summoned and the injured woman made as comfortable as possible. She spoke a restless night and is in a serious condition to-day.

Three Injured

The three persons injured in the trolley accident during the afternoon were all able to go home. Their injuries were slight. A cowboy passenger, pulling the bell rope, caused the motorman to stop and a rear-end collision resulted and the fact that more were not seriously injured was due to the careful manner in which the motorman were proceeding. The cars escaped damage.

Officer Emmons was mobbed by a large crowd of negroes at the Washington Maryland station during the day. He had rushed in when he saw a man strike a woman with sufficient force to knock her down and was about to place him under arrest when fifty or more colored men charged upon him. Western Maryland detectives Connegay, Burnett and Davis hurried to his aide and, with several citizens, managed to get him away together with one of the ring-leaders in the scrimmage to prevent the arrest of the original assailant, who escaped.

Had Pocket Picked

Robert King, of Hunterstown, was in the Washington House about seven o'clock in the evening when he was suddenly given a shove by a small negro who quickly reached into Mr. King's pocket, drew out a purse containing $36 and made a dash for the door. The whole affair was over in the space of a few seconds and, before the victim could give chase, the pickpocket had gotten a good start down the Western Maryland trucks towards Hunterstown street. King followed yelling "Pickpocket," and a crowd joined in the pursuit but the negro succeeded in good start and, in the rapidly falling darkness, made good his escape.

Local officers were busy all night during the day and had several arrests. Constable Walter's project that the arrest "in a residential street only and in free from disturbing crowds, the use of anyones from trades, occupations, business or nuisances". Mr. Walter's assistance than saying that the portion of Hanover street in question is not a "residential street" at all, has been and is set now a residential street only, but is a street in the midst of a now agricultural land and used for farming and trucking purposes."

TROLLEY ACCIDENT

Three Negroes Hurt in Rear End Collision on Trolley.

Three negro excursionists were slightly hurt in a trolley accident Monday afternoon near the Reading farm on the Baltimore pike. The negroes were Helen Wheeler, 26 years of age, William Jackson and James Robinson. They were riding on the front seat from the car, bruising her body but sustaining no broken bones. Robinson suffered some pain from bruises and Jackson complained of a stiff ankle. The accident is blamed on some drunken negroes who pulled the bell rope, causing the motorman to stop the car and the next one following crashed into it. Some considerable damage followed but no one was seriously hurt.

It is possible that David Bupham, the popular barber, may be secured for a concert at Gettysburg early in November. Such a singer as Bupham is a decided boost outside the large cities, but the committee having the matter in charge believe that enough local people will be eager to patronize a Bupham concert to meet expenses.

MANY MACHINES IN ORCHARD TRIP

Gettysburg and Upper End Automobile Owners Ready to Respond to Call to Entertain Visiting Fruit Growers.

Many Gettysburg automobile owners and a number of the prosperous fruit growers and farmers in the upper end of the county have seemed to donate the use of their machines next Tuesday to take the visiting members of the State Horticultural Association on a trip thru the Adams County's apple belt.

POOR AIM SAVES UGLY TRAGEDY

Firing five shots at close range in the bar-room of the City Hotel about half past nine Tuesday night, Harry Black, colored, narrowly missed killing Oscar Simpson by Charles Pickpocket, and a crowd joined in the pursuit but the negro succeeded in good start and, in the rapidly falling darkness, made good his escape.

Local officers were busy all night during the day and had several arrests. Constable Walter's project that the street on Carlisle street was stopped when Officers Wise and Sheisher landed in and caught a man flourishing a razor. They secured their prisoner who gave his name as Charles Brown, Augusta Hollsworth was about to pick it up when Officer Sheisher covered him with a dash for the weapon and got away with his.

Officers Sheisher and Emmons picked up James Johnson for carrying concealed deadly weapons, a knife and a revolver. He was taken before Squire Hamilton and committed to jail for Court trial.

Hard Task

The crowd which did not start its real operations until well on in the afternoon had a hard time getting the local force of officers to handle.

During the afternoon Deputy District Attorney Wible, hearing of gambling at Round Top, sent Officers Sheisher and three deputies out to the "Hill." It was soon seen that a force of four men could not handle the crowd and the task was abandoned.

With all of the unpleasant features of the day and night it had its humorous side and the sight of the crowd at seven a half past two in the morning when one big black fellow on the outside of the Western Maryland depot pulled out and the sorry affair had come to an end.

The Western Maryland could bring the excursionists here and not be able to get them back is explained by the fact that at Baltimore in the morning a part of the 7000 negroes appeared to buy tickets for Gettysburg. Even though had half a dozen crowd cars from the Reading they did not have sufficient to get all here and about 1500 were left behind. The majority managed to pack themselves into the cars, as many as 125 packing into a coach. Had Pocket Picked

Robert King, of Hunterstown, was in the Washington House about seven o'clock in the evening when he was suddenly given a shove by a small negro who quickly reached into Mr. King's pocket, drew out a purse containing $36 and made a dash for the door. The whole affair was over in the space of a few seconds and, before the victim could give chase, the pickpocket had gotten a good start down the Western Maryland trucks towards Hunterstown street. King followed yelling "Pickpocket," and a crowd joined in the pursuit but the negro succeeded in good start and, in the rapidly falling darkness, made good his escape.

Local officers were busy all night during the day and had several arrests. Constable Walter's project that the street on Carlisle street was stopped when Officers Wise and Sheisher landed in and caught a man flourishing a razor. They secured their prisoner who gave his name as Charles Brown, Augusta Hollsworth was about to pick it up when Officer Sheisher covered him with a dash for the weapon and got away with his.

Officers Sheisher and Emmons picked up James Johnson for carrying concealed deadly weapons, a knife and a revolver. He was taken before Squire Hamilton and committed to jail for Court trial.

Hard Task

The crowd which did not start its real operations until well on in the afternoon had a hard time getting the local force of officers to handle.

During the afternoon Deputy District Attorney Wible, hearing of gambling at Round Top, sent Officers Sheisher and three deputies out to the "Hill." It was soon seen that a force of four men could not handle the crowd and the task was abandoned.

With all of the unpleasant features of the day and night it had its humorous side and the sight of the crowd at seven a half past two in the morning when one big black fellow on the outside of the Western Maryland depot pulled out and the sorry affair had come to an end.

Baltimore Lad, Hurt at Gardners Factory, Slowly Improving.

John Gleisner, the fourteen year old Baltimore lad, who was seriously hurt Friday afternoon at the Nonpareil Canning Company plant at Gardners, when he was caught in a machine is now recovering slowly in the Harrisburg Hospital. He had recovered sufficient consciousness last night to allow the amputation of the injured arm. His other injuries are not of a serious character, however, that he will likely be a patient at the institution for some time.

FRUITLESS WAIT

Local Guides Have Long and Fruitless Wait for Train.

Gettysburg's guides and hackmen waited at the Reading station early Sunday morning until almost noon for a train which was due at an excursion which brought about 1200 people, most of whom refused to take teams when they did arrive. The morning the roadway where the teams stood presented a busy appearance, dandelion shearing where the impatient horses had to feed on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Naomi J. Gettys, of Washington township, York County.

WILL REPLACE THE MEMORIALS

Figures on Battlefield Memorials Battered by Tandal Several Months ago to be Replaced with New Ones. The Cost.

The temporary repairs made to the nine monuments on the battlefield, damaged by tandal on the night of March fourth last, are now to be replaced, if a bill passes Congress during the necessary appropriation, by permanent repairs of the same kind. It is estimated that the new portions and cost of erecting will amount to $1,000.

In a report submitted to the War Department by the Battlefield Park Commission the original cost of each of the monuments damaged is given together with the likely expenditure necessary to make the repairs.

The appropriation of the amount named has been recommended by the Secretary of War in his annual report to the Defiance Appropriation bill. This is the only time such monuments have been perpetrated on a national battlefield under the control of the government, and with the single exception of a previous case at Shiloh battlefield. Assistant Secretary of War Breckinridge Long in his report says that the damage was "the result of an outburst of a crazy man."

The Fifth Corps marker on Sedgwick avenue, a mulian surmounted by a bronze figure, was damaged by having the corners of the cross and the top of the figure broken off and a small piece of cement 1500. Estimated cost of repair $50.

The granite shaft of the 97th Massachusetts nearby was treated in the same manner, the top of the gnne, in relief at the side of the shaft. The estimated cost of repairs is $100 and the cost of the 121st Pennsylvania monument which was similar in object operator, at the time the young man was caught in the belt. The fact that he was working was wrong until his attention was called to the matter.

Dr. Myers was immediately summoned and the injured man was taken by train to Harrisburg, accompanying him there and working for more than an hour trying to restore consciousness before stopping the flow of blood. The ray was finally stopped and consciousness when he was admitted to the hospital that the doctors could not operate upon.

The operators of the pooling company, which is composed of farmers in the vicinity of Hanover, have decided not to put on the belts themselves and have employed Harold Bell and Ed Shinn had charge of this duty. It is considered strange that the young men in the accident escaped but it is the shafting operates at a few speed.

CINCO FACTORY

Over one hundred cigar makers have signed up to go to work for the new factory to be opened in Littlestown and it is said that at least one hundred more will be employed. Work will not care to sign up now because of the uncertainty of getting cigar stamps.

The company—Eisenlohr Brothers, makers of the "Cinco" cigar—will place the building in shape for occupancy at once and will have the company experts to commence work.

ANOTHER AUTO BUS

The bus runs Caledonia to Gettysburg has been so successful that the auto company has been encouraged to start the line to St. Thomas which will no doubt be certain to prove a success from the start.

YOUNG BOY VERY SERIOUSLY HURT

New Apple Canning Plant at Gardners Scene of an Accident which is Likely to Prove Fatal. Young Foreign Boy the Victim

John Gleisner, Baltimore 15 years of age, was probably fatally injured at the Musselman Canning Company's plant at Gardners, Friday afternoon at 4:15 when he was whisked around in a pulley wheel. The little fellow's head was almost torn from the socket and his body in a mass of bruises and internal hemorrhages. He was put on the afternoon train and is now in the Harrisburg Hospital where he is suffering grattuy from shock. The doctors have little hope for his recovery.

Young Gleisner was employed as a feeder at one of the power driven machines. It appears that the belt came on the pulley and, in trying to get it back, he became entangled in it. He was drawn around with the belt and severely and grate in the 42d of one orange. Fire men in the room threw the switch and the machine was stopped immediately. The foreman in charge of the plant was notified and he in turn rushed the young man, repairing another pulley and started the belt to work. Gleisner injured operator, at the time the young man was caught in the belt. The fact that he was working was wrong until his attention was called to the matter.

The operators of the pooling company, which is composed of farmers in the vicinity of Hanover, have decided not to put on the belts themselves and have employed Harold Bell and Ed Shinn had charge of this duty. It is considered strange that the young men in the accident escaped but it is the shafting operates at a few speed.
